Language & Fine Arts Department Received New Mexico Humanities Council Grant

The Department of Language and Fine Arts was awarded a New Mexico Humanities Council grant to fund the inaugural Ruidoso Books and Writing Festival. The weekend festival will be in April 2024 and will be free and open to the campus and the community. Several published authors, including multiple award-winners and bestsellers, will give readings and inspiring writing activities for the public, along with informational sessions on publishing your work. More details on the 2024 Ruidoso Books and Writing Festival are forthcoming.

Foundation Receives Donation from Downshift

The leadership team at Downshift Brewing Company is investing ideas and energy into the Ruidoso community. As part of their Gratitude campaign, ENMU-Ruidoso Foundation was selected as a recipient of their generosity toward local non-profits through sales of their Gratitude label. Last week, the Foundation and campus leadership were presented with $1,327.50 in Gratitude campaign funds. "We are grateful and look forward to partnering on future events to benefit ENMU-Ruidoso students and campus programs," said Foundation Director Rochelle Lentschke.
