Kids College to Continue as planned July 29-Aug. 2

The Community Education Department to host Kids College as planned July 29-Aug. 2, 8 a.m.-5 p.m. Because of the fires and floods, we have partnered with Project:Camp, an organization that provides pop-up, free day camps for children impacted by wildfires and other natural disasters throughout the U.S. They create unique spaces to provide children with structure and normalcy, giving parents, schools and childcare networks time to implement a plan for what comes next. Kids College will again be offered in the same structure as the past few years, combined with the expertise of trauma-informed care for all students. Nearly 80 students kindergarten through eighth grades are signed up. Families have the option of full- or half-day options, including lunch and snacks. If you have questions, please contact Nicole DeLorenzo, director of community and grant development, at nicole.delorenzo@enmu.edu or 575-315-1213.

ENMU-Ruidoso Joins the NIRA Grand Canyon Region, Searching for Rodeo Coach

ENMU-Ruidoso was approved as a member college of the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association (NIRA) fall of 2023. NIRA has 11 regions throughout the nation. Based on the NIRA Rulebook ENMU-Ruidoso was originally accepted into the Southwest Region which by definition includes colleges and universities in New Mexico and West Texas, due to the extensive amount of travel for that region, the College recently petitioned the NIRA Board of Directors to withdraw from the Southwest Region and requested to join the Grand Canyon Region which includes colleges and universities in Arizona, New Mexico State University, Las Cruces; Mesalands Community College, Tucumcari; San Juan College, Farmington; Navajo Technical College, Crownpoint; New Mexico Highlands University, Las Vegas; and Western New Mexico University, Silver City. However, currently San Juan College and Highlands University do not have rodeo teams so the Grand Canyon Region wants more teams and the estimated travel for the rodeo team would be an additional 2,500 more miles to college rodeos in the Southwest Region compared to the Grand Canyon Region. The locally elected ENMU-Ruidoso board members and the ENMU Board of Regents in spring 2023 approved to bring on athletic sports including men's and women's rodeo, golf and cross country. The golf and cross country teams will compete in the National Junior College Athletic Association (NJCAA) Region 5. The College is currently searching for a Women's and Men's Rodeo Coach.
