

Dia de Los Muertos Well Attended

ENMU-Ruidoso hosted a Dia de Los Muertos event Friday, Nov. 1 in the Learning Commons. Over 50 people attended, primarily families from a local homeschool group. The event included an educational presentation to provide historical and cultural context. The setting created a family-friendly environment that honored the holiday. The event focused on educating children and parents about Dia de los Muertos traditions. Activities included an altar display with an explanation, arts and crafts such as candle and picture frame decorating, and paper marigolds. Music was provided by Tomas Vigil and food was provided by Dr. Munchies y mas. The event received positive feedback, with many families appreciating the opportunity to learn through interactive experiences. The event was free and open to the public.

Department Chairs Inducted into ADK

Science Department Chair and Science Faculty Member Shelly Elfelt and Education Department Chair and Early Childhood Education Faculty Member Cleo Mow were recently inducted into Eta Chapter of Alpha Delta Kappa (ADK), an international honorary organization for women educators. Founded in 1947, ADK has a history of promoting excellence in education and fostering a spirit of altruism among its members. The organization is dedicated to supporting professional growth, educational excellence, and a world of understanding, offering members opportunities for leadership, professional development, and community service. Being inducted into the Eta Chapter is a testament to both Elfelt and Mow's dedication to education and commitment to the values that ADK upholds.
